You can place the fittings/mounts/brackets where it is suitable for the wall, therefore we can not provide any exact measurements of where the screw holes will be placed in advance.

Hi

There is no requirement when it comes to the exact distance between particular brackets. The regulation says wall bar must be fastened to the wall/floor at the top and bottom each side, may additionally be mounted in the middle but it is up to you where you will drill the wholes.

Therefore we cannot tell you exact position of drillings, your customers has to make sure only it is between the horizontal bars, it the gap between them.
